

DECISIONS ON FOUR APPEALS RENDERED BY SUPREME COURT

Four decisions were handed down by the supreme court yesterday, two of the appealed cases being from Yavapai county, one from Cochise county and one from Maricopa county.

In the case of the Young Mines Company, Ltd., appellant, against Ben L. Blackburn, appellee, this county judgment of the lower court in the sum of $3,500 in favor of the appellee was affirmed. This was a personal injury suit.

In the case of the Verde Tunnel and Smelter Railway company and the Kansas City Structural Steel company, appellants, against Sam Stevenson, appellee, Yavapai county also a personal injury action, the judgment was reversed and action dismissed in regard to the Kansas City Structural Steel company, and judgment ordered for $12,500 in regard to the Verde Tunnel and Smelter Railway company, on condition that a remittitur of $7,500 be made by the appellee, otherwise judgment reversed and new trial ordered.

The case of J. G. Crowley, appellant, against Louis E. Rummel, appellee, a suit for false imprisonment appealed from the superior court of Yavapai county, was reversed and remanded for new trial.

The question of whether a fund obtained through claim for damages for the death of man is subject to testamentary disposition was settled in the fourth decision. The case was that of Emily May Jennings, by her guardian, Albert M. James, appellants, against Mabron Lister, administrator of the estate of Ollie R. Lister, deceased; T. O. Lister, Lular Rowe, S. H. Lister, S. W. Lister, Maude Jennings, J. R. Lister, and Mabron Lister.

Ollie Lister died of injuries received in the employ of the Phelps-Dodge corporation, and Mabron Lister was appointed administrator of the estate, which consisted of a claim for damages against the corporation. The claim was settled and in the hands of the administrator ready for distribution when it was claimed by Emily May Jennings under a will in which Ollie Lister bequeathed to her all his real and personal property.

Upon hearing of petitions for distribution, and under the will, the court of Cochise county denied the latter and ordered the estate divided according to the law of descent and distribution among the father, brothers and sisters of the deceased. The judgment was appealed, and was affirmed in the decision yesterday.

SOUTH DAKOTA FOLK ORGANIZE SOCIETY

Former residents of South Dakota now living in Phoenix and vicinity held their first picnic yesterday at East-lake park and formed a permanent South Dakota organization. Similar picnics will be held each year hereafter.

The gathering yesterday was attended by 150 former South Dakota residents. It was an enthusiastic meeting. After a bounteous picnic dinner many reminiscences were told by pioneers among whom were the Rev. C. D. Crossy, Col. E. M. Langson, H. H. Farrington, Mrs. Warwick Scott, Mrs. Henry Court, Mrs. M. A. Hayes, Vernon Moore, Thurgood Miller, the Rev. Mr. Durand, Mrs. Dr. Lane, and Charles Miller, treasurer.

SOCIALISM SUBJECT OF DEBATE TONIGHT

The first of a series of debates on socialism between Frederick M. Corcoran of the Young Men's Anti-Socialist Society of New York, and J. M. Bowen of Indianapolis, socialist, both of whom are in the city, will be held at 7:45 o'clock tonight at the Labor Temple, 238 East Washington street.

J. C. Provost will be chairman of the meeting, and the subject will be, "Resolved, that we deny the existence of God-given rights."

The second debate in the series will be held next Sunday night on "Resolved, that economic socialism is sound." The third will follow a week later, on "Resolved, that socialism is inimical to labor." These two debates probably will be held at the high school auditorium.

Mr. Corcoran has been in Phoenix for some time, speaking to street gatherings. He will take the anti-socialist side in the debates. Both he and Mr. Bowen are good speakers and thoroughly familiar with the respective arguments.

All three of the debates will be free, and the public is invited.

The Stage

The estate of Frank Wenzel, originally Mr. Peck in "Peck's Bad Boy," was valued at $501.

The gross receipts of "Spanish Love" at Maxine Elliott's theater, which is to be a feature of a musical show in which he will present Ed Wyn next season. He also has arranged with John Tiller for the services of the Sunshine Girls from the Folies Bergeres.

Three new productions were given premiers outside New York City last week. They were: "Tangier," a musical comedy, was produced by Carl Carlton at the Globe theater, Atlantic City; the farce, "Getting George's Garter," was seen at the Woods theater in the same city; and "Toto," Leo Ditchstein's new play, opened in Springfield, Mass.

Ben Welch last Friday night staged a dramatic and pathetic scene when he had the mayor of Providence burn an insurance policy which would have given the blind comedian $10,000 in a lump or $75 weekly so long as he lives. He declined to collect the policy because it would have meant retirement from the stage and, under the "total disability" clause he would have been prohibited from writing acts, songs or other material.

A new play entitled "As We Are," written by Samuel Beamon, a local dramatist, was presented for the first time on any stage by the Yiddish players at the Republic theater, San Francisco, last Wednesday night.

An invasion of English chorus girls is the indication for next summer and fall production. There has developed a heavy demand for "Tiller" girls, so-called because of the John Tiller school, a noted London institution. Both legitimate and burlesque managers have asked agencies to engage groups of "Tiller" girls who are graduated from the school. No less than five managers have made requests from one office doing a foreign business, one of them offering as high as $1,200 weekly for a "Tiller" chorus.

A realty deal of note was consummated last week when J. A. Albright, proprietor of the Payway Butter store, purchased the beautiful home of Boyd O'Daniel on West Latham street through E. W. Bacon, of the Bacon Land company.

HER WISH: TO TRAIN ALL AMERICAN PUGILISTS

MISS ROSA MUNDE

(N. E. A. Staff Special)
NEW YORK—Have you lost your grip on life? Are you fagged and weary? Take a tip from Miss Rosa Munde and start toe-dancing. It's the latest rejuvenator, she says.

Miss Munde recently renounced her position as a dancer with the Metropolitan Grand Opera company here to open a studio in Greenwich Village. In it she is teaching bankers, brokers, pugilists and others the five positions of the ballet.

"Learn to prouette and you'll be successful," she says. "Most men fail because they lack poise. Toe-dancing will recover it for them."

"The American pugilist needs the ballet. He's too slow and sluggish. Georges Carpentier, French champion, is a master of the ballet. That's why I believe he will beat Dempsey."

"I wish to train all prizefighters. I will make them masters of their feet. Then they will be masters of their heads, too."

"Children should be agile. Business men should be spry. Toe-dancing will make them that way. One of my pupils, a broker, spends an hour a day on his toes. He has lost weight. He is becoming nimble. And he is so happy."

Paris, Feb. 23.
Mercury's wand, or the caduceus, is the emblem of the medical profession, and a close study of the confraternity forms the subject of "Le Caduceus," a 4-act benefit at the Renaissance theater in aid of the Curie Radium fund for the treatment of cancer. The author, who hides himself under the pseudonym of Pascal, is no other than Baron Henri de Rothschild—Variety.

Refuse to Prosecute

TUCSON—Jim and Sophie Banks, arrested by Detective Camacho on Thursday afternoon on charges of the Parlor Millinery store that the pair of negroes had stolen a hat from the shop, were released on refusal of the store owners to make charges against them. Jim and Sophie, though denying that they had taken the hat, and although the hat was not found as evidence, agreed to pay ten dollars for the hat simply to avoid going to jail. Following the payment of the cash the store owner refused to prosecute the negroes, although the police say they are former offenders and well known to them.—Citizen.
